H. Thompson Price Jr. Scholarship Application

General Information

This award is given yearly at the CASA Awards Banquet during CASA's annual education seminar. The award is given to commemorate the life and service of H. Thompson Price, Jr., a dedicated servant to American consumers for more than twenty-five years. Through his innovative ideas, tireless work, and enthusiastic encouragement, many food and drug regulatory officials and industry officials developed training programs and work-sharing agreements that promoted more effective and efficient consumer protection programs.

The criterion for this award reflects the love and dedication that Tom Price had for CASA and for every person that belonged to CASA or supported its goals and objectives. This award stands not only as a tribute to Tom Price, but as a reminder that CASA must always bring new members into its ranks and must always support and encourage the training and development of people. It is a symbol that the role of CASA will not only live on, but that its role will expand and grow.

At least one $1,500 scholarship will be given to the applicant(s) selected by the Scholarship Selection Committee.
This scholarship will only be awarded a maximum of twice to the same awardee.

Checks reflecting the scholarship award will be made payable to the student.

The name of the winner of the H. Thompson Price, Jr. Scholarship will be announced at the Kenneth W. Hohe Awards Banquet during the annual education seminar.
